RIVER CHANNEL FILLING UP; DEPTH AVERAGES 13.4 FT.

Delaware Not Dredged Since December, 1940; Some Spots Only 8'

$1,250,000 TO RESTORE

Ocean-Going Vessels Unable To Come Up River Since Before War

The channel of the Delaware river between Philadelphia and Trenton is filling up and the average depth now is given as 13.4 feet and in some spots it is only a little more than eight feet. This was brought out at a public hearing held Tuesday in the Trenton city hall.

Testimony at the hearing brought out the following facts:

Ocean going vessels have not been able to come up the river since before the war.

The channel has not been dredged since December 1940. As a result, the channel now has an average depth of 13.4 feet and in some spots is only a little more than eight feet deep.

United States Army Engineers believe there would not be enough traffic on the river to warrant the spending of $1,250,000 to restore the channel to its original depth and $220,000 a year to maintain it.

Major A. J. Ryan of the Philadelphia office of the Army engineers said 481,000 tons of shipping moved up and down the river in 1937. This fell off to 315,000 tons in 1940 and practically nothing last year. His office, he declared, does not have enough money to take care of all the projects in its section and has to eliminate those which it feels do not warrant the expense.

Fourteen industrial firms in the Trenton area submitted figures to the Port Commission on the approximate tonnage they would ship through the port of Trenton if the channel was restored. Ryan said, however, these figures totaled only about 50,000 tons.

Schmitt-Hopkins Nuptial Ceremony is Performed

EDDINGTON, Mar. 1—At a wedding ceremony solemnized in Christ Episcopal Church, here, Saturday afternoon at four o'clock, Miss Aileen Hopkins, daughter of Mrs. Harry Paulsworth, Bath road, became the wife of Mr. John Schmitt, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Schmitt, Rogers road. Officiating was the Rev. Albert W. Eastburn.

The bride wore a pale blue, moire silk gown, trimmed with silver buttons, blue flower head-dress with a shoulder-length veil. She carried yellow rose buds tied with silver ribbon.

Her attendant, Mrs. Horace Hopkins, her sister-in-law, wore a light green suit, black slippers and hat, and a corsage of yellow rose buds.

Mr. Emil Schmitt, Jr., was his brother's best man.

A wedding supper was served at the Penguin Flyer, Andalusia.

The young couple will live for a while at 69 Schumacher Drive until their new home is completed at Hulmeville.

Activities of Interest To All in The Various Communities

GLEANED BY SCRIBES

A resident of Fountainville, A. Linford Umstead, who made a trip to the west coast last summer, showed films taken on that trip to members of Doylestown Lions Club Thursday evening. Sixty-five Lions enjoyed the reels.

The redwood trees, Catalina Island, scenes from what is said to be the only whaling business in the United States, and many others were shown.

Club members plan a "Ladies' Night" in May at the county seat armory. At this affair members of seven Lions clubs in Zone 5A and their wives and friends will be present.

For securing largest number of members for the club, E. J. Noll, president; Edward Kirgus and Charles Cathers were presented with gifts.

Progress is reported in raising of funds for the Penndel War Memorial Recreation Park. Steady advance is shown in sums donated.

The goal is $8,500, and bonafide pledges and cash donations to date are said to far exceed the half-way mark. Serving as treasurer is Alexander Knox, Penndel.

Featuring the annual joint dinner of Perkasie Chamber of Commerce at the Rotary and Lions clubs affairs in Perkasie, last week, was an address by Richardson Dilworth, who lost on the Democratic ticket for Mayor of Philadelphia, last Fall.

Among those introduced at the dinner were Willard Stover, president of the Lions club; Walter Herstine, president of the Chamber of Commerce; John Grasse, president of the Rotary club; Charles Kauffman, president of Sellersville Kiwanis Club, and Earl Cressman, president of the Sellersville Civic Improvement Association.

TRANSPORTED BY AMBULANCES

Bucks Co. Rescue Squad removed the following patients during the week-end: Mrs. Jean Vosswinkle, Bristol, to the home of her sister at Fairlawn, N. PRUNING PROGRAM IS SCHEDULED FOR MAR. 1

At the Crowell and Moyer Farms; Also Mechanical Milking Discussion

OF GREAT INTEREST

An orchard pruning program on March 1st and a mechanical milking discussion on March 4th, have been placed on the Co-Operative Extension Work calendar in Bucks County.

The pruning was scheduled for the farm of Mrs. Ralph Crowell, Buckingham, at 10 this morning; and for the farm of Alvin Moyer, Dublin, at 1:30 p. m., the same day. J. U. Ruef, extension pomologist, Penna. State College, will conduct the demonstration.

Bucks County Agent William F. Greenawalt announces that "in order that milking machines may be used to their greatest efficiency to maintain high levels of production, udder health, and that the product be of highest quality, we are devoting an entire day, March 4th, to a thorough discussion of mechanical milking."

The program to be held in Plumstead borough hall, will be as follows: 10:30 a. m., "Milk Secretion", I. E. Parkins, dairy specialist, Pennsylvania State College; 11:15 a. m., "Installation and Care of Milking Machine", R. A. Linson; 12 noon, lunch reservations must be made to William F. Greenawalt, Doylestown; one p. m., "Milking Machine Sanitation", Harvey Ames; 1:30 p. m., "The Managed Milking Program", I. E. Parkin.

LEAP YEAR BABY

A son was born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. Leon Plavin, Mill street, in Mercer Hospital, Trenton, N. J. The new arrival tipped the scales at six pounds, and is the third son for the Plavins.

A canvass was made of physicians in Bristol borough, and no other births for this area were reported for February 29th.

SEVEN "BILLS" PASSED AT YMCA "ASSEMBLY"

Two Bristol Boys Figure In The Election of "Delegates"

CROSS AND SNYDER

NORRISTOWN, Mar. 1 — Seven "bills" were presented, and after being argued all were passed Saturday at the pre-legislative "assembly" held by the Southeast District, YMCA, in the court house here.

The bills included the following:

Bill No. 1—To supplement Act 336 of 1927 to aid in increasing or establishing recreational system in all the counties, boroughs, and townships of Pennsylvania.

Bill No. 2—An act providing for state and parental aid of juvenile detention homes.

Bill No. 3—An act to provide financial protection against injury for all persons participating in high school sports.

Bill No. 4—An act to provide for state appropriations to secondary schools within the state which provide to eligible students a course of instruction in the proper operation of a motor vehicle in accordance with the rules and regulations as contained in the State of Penna. Motor Vehicle Code.

Bill No. 5—An act providing for the mandatory requirement of liability insurance for all motor vehicles.

Bill No. 6—An act defining and providing for vocational counselling and placement in all public high schools, and made available to all senior high school students of the school district in which they attend school, and to graduates, 21 years of age or over, of any high school.

Bill No. 7—An act to provide for sexual education and teaching in public high schools to require the principals and the superintendent of the high school to appoint teachers to teach sex education.

There was an election of delegates to the model legislature at Harrisburg. Two Bristol boys figured in the election held during the day, when Earl Cross was named "senator," and Warren P. Snyder, Jr., elected as a member of the "house of representatives."

T. F. Eppley, district executive of the state YMCA, explained the agenda for the day, and read delegate assignments to committees, with meeting places for each committee. Cross and Snyder were also assigned to committees, the former to Committee No. 4, and the latter to Committee No. 5.

These committees considered the various bills and also assisted in re-writing them and preparing them to be presented to the assembly for action at the afternoon session.

AGED MAN ENDS LIFE WHILE ALONE IN ROOM

Francisco Garamella, 86, Is Found Dead After Report of Pistol is Heard

HE HAD BEEN MOROSE

An aged man shot himself to death Saturday afternoon at his daughter's home on Dorrance St. where he was residing. He is Francisco Garamella, 86, 334 Dorrance street, home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Trombino.

Garamella shot himself through the head with a .32 caliber revolver. Death was instantaneous.

At home at the time were his two granddaughters Anna, 32, and Catherine Trombino, 17. Garamella was in the dining room where he normally slept. A shot was heard by the girls, but they did not enter the room immediately.

The Rev. Peter Finci, of the St. Ann's parish, was notified and he in turn called police. Police arrived and found the body. He was pronounced dead by Dr. Giordano.

Survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Frank Trombino, Bristol, and Mrs. Angelo Passanante, Brooklyn, N. Y.; two sons, Anthony, of Belleville, N. J.; and John, of Philadelphia; two sisters and a brother, Mrs. Anna Ingoglia, Mrs. Rose Cuttone, and Salvatore Garamella, Bristol.

Garamella had been despondent, police report.

POLIO FUND IN THIS AREA SURPASSES '47

School Pupils Double Their Donations to "March of Dimes"

JR. CLUB IN CHARGE

Word received by the local chairman of the "March of Dimes" drive is that the campaign in this area has surpassed that of last year. Furdy Weiss, treasurer of the infantile paralysis foundation fund for Bucks County, has informed Mrs. Robert Braker, local chairman that funds turned over by her, plus checks sent direct from this area, are in advance of those received last year.

"The pupils in the schools in this area doubled the amount they gave last year," advises Mrs. Braker, who submits for publication the following as donations from schools: Bristol — Bath street school, $32.20; Wood street, $52.56; Jefferson avenue, $36.55; Washington street, $13.50; high school building, $70.25; St. Mark's parochial, $18; St. Ann's parochial, $15.20; Tullytown, $4.97; Edgely, $31.50; Andalusia, $14.70; St. Charles parochial, Cornwells Hts., $20.30; Bensalem township high school, $46.24; Eddington, $2.10; St. Luke's Lutheran, Croydon, $12.55; Croydon public school, $27.30; St. Thomas Aquinas parochial, Croydon, $53.70; Bristol township junior high school, $25.44; Maple Shade, $16; Newportville, $11.

Additional contributions by individuals, plus collections in this area, brought the amount turned over by Mrs. Braker to $1748.16. Other checks were forwarded direct to Mr. Weiss.

Cerebral Hemorrhage Is Given As Death Cause

LANGHORNE, Mar. 1—Although ill for two weeks, death of Burnard Stradling, 76, came as a shock to his relatives and friends yesterday. Bucks County Coroner, J. Alfred Rigby, was called in the case. Death is attributed to cerebral hemorrhage. Mr. Stradling resided at 309 N. Bellevue avenue.

Born at Oxford Valley, son of the late Brayley and Elizabeth Freese Stradling, he is survived by several nephews.

The deceased, one of the oldest active members of Langhorne Fire Co., was assistant engineer at the time of his death. He was also active in the county firemen's organization. He was a member of the Knights of the Golden Eagle, here.

The Rev. Russell Hummell, pastor of Langhorne Methodist Church, will conduct the service tomorrow at two p. m., at the Horner funeral home here, and burial will be in Langhorne Methodist Churchyard. Firemen will serve as pall-bearers. Friends may call this evening.

DISCUSS RAISING OF FUNDS FOR FIRE CO.

Committee Named to Solicit For Tullytown Fire Company

FOR A NEW STATION

TULLYTOWN, Mar. 1—Members of Tullytown Fire Company held a special meeting in the fire station on Thursday evening for the purpose of discussing ways of raising funds in order to renovate the building on Railroad avenue recently purchased by the company. They also plan to build an addition to the building, and hope sometime to have an entirely new building.

President Edward Paolella appointed the following committee: Vincent J. Magro, Edward Kaiser, William Swangler, and Michael Tumminia, and gave them authority to solicit homes and business establishments of Tullytown and surrounding area covered by Tullytown Fire Company, for funds to help cover cost of the proposed new station.

All interested parties are invited to be present Sunday at 11 a. m. on the new grounds to inspect the building.

Also appointed to serve as house committeemen are Gregory Parto, Andrew Pezza and Lewis Lucisano. Residents are asked to contact these three for use of furniture belonging to the fire company.

The president appointed Joseph Cutchineal, Sr., Wallace Keeler and John Lucisano as a committee to obtain more details about the parade to be held in Bristol this summer.

LEAVES $100 TO METHODIST CHURCH AT HULMEVILLE

Estate of Cyrus E. Smith is Listed at $48,000

THE GRUBER WILL

Laura Levengood, Bensalem, Named Her Sister; Latter Died Day Later

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 1—The sum of $100 was bequeathed to Neshaminy Methodist Church, Hulmeville, in the will of Cyrus E. Smith, late of Hulmeville. This bequest is in memory of his late wife, Margaret Smith.

Mr. Smith, who died in Florida, February 7th, left a personal estate of $38,000, and real estate valued at $10,000.

Through the will a trust fund for benefit of his wife, Eva Dodge Smith, Hulmeville, was created; and his daughter, Frances H. Longhurst, Concord, N. C., was given her share of the estate outright. The will was drawn up on April 2, 1940.

A son-in-law, Assistant County Superintendent Paul L. Gruber, Fifth and Market streets, Perkasie, was granted the letters of administration in the estate of his father-in-law, Dr. N. B. Williams, Perkasie, amounting to an estate of $15,000.

Three daughters, Beatrice L. W. Bothern, Asbury Park, N. J.; Gladys W. Nadig, Phila., and Dorothy W. Gruber, Perkasie, are the heirs. Dr. Williams, well-known dentist, died February 3.

Laura V. Levengood, Bensalem township, who left a personal estate of $12,000 and real estate valued at $10,000, created a trust fund for the benefit of one beneficiary, Mary Emma Levengood, and stipulated that at her death the heir should be Huldah M. Edson, 6328 Wister St., Phila., who was also named executrix with John P. Betz. Mary Emma died a day after Laura passed away.

The testatrix, whose real estate is located at Hulmeville road and Bristol Pike, Bensalem township, and at 2734 Helen street, Phila., died Feb. 6. Her will was executed August 18, 1947.

A daughter, Myrtle Brown, and her husband, Willard M. Brown, were named the beneficiaries of the $1500 personal and real estate of the former's father, Joseph E. Pactrell, Bridgeton township, who died Dec. 5, 1935. The real estate includes a house and barn and the petitioners were bequeathed a life right on the Bridgeton township place. The will was executed Mar. 12, 1928. The daughter and son-in-law were named executrix and executor respectively.

4 of 6 Youths Turned Over to Phila. Police

Four of the six Philadelphia youths who admitted a Bucks County robbery have been turned over to Philadelphia detectives for trial in the Quaker City.

The quartet is part of the group arrested by Doylestown policemen February 14th after an attempt to steal an automobile in the rear of Clymer's department store, Doylestown, and after they had given up as "too big a job" planned a robbery at the Tyler estate near Newtown.

As two of the six bandits were not implicated in any of the Philadelphia thefts in question, they are held at Bucks County prison.

The four taken in tow by Philadelphia detectives are: Ross Ingram, 17; Edward Fox, 22; Joseph Barker, 21, and Joseph Gross, 20.

They are to be tried in Philadelphia for a long series of grocery store robberies, taxicab driver holdups and other stickups.

Obviously the terms in prison which they face in Philadelphia will be greater than the prison term they would face in Bucks county, because of the greater number of crimes they committed in Philadelphia.

The costs that will be saved by Bucks county will also be quite an amount as a result of the accused being tried in Philadelphia first.

The six youths were heavily armed when arrested by Patrolmen Clarence Irwin and Harton, Doylestown, for questioning. They were held at Doylestown for the auto theft and on firearms charges. Upon questioning they admitted to State Police, Doylestown police, and Philadelphia detectives their attempted Tyler holdup near Newtown and a large number of actual holdups in Philadelphia.

Dunlop Tire Store, 143 Otter St., is now open Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings. (Advertisement)

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

Thirty British soldiers were killed and dozens injured yesterday when land mines wrecked the Cairo Express south of Tel Aviv in Palestine. Members of the Stern Gang announced they had caused the disaster in retaliation for the bombing in Jerusalem last week.

Communist "action committees," operating under radio instructions, will start today to reorganize Czechoslovakia into a totalitarian-type state. Every office and factory is to be brought under control.

Finland's envoy to Moscow returned to Helsinki. It was believed that he had brought with him defailed provisions in Premier Stalin's "suggestion" to President Paasikivi for a Finnish-Soviet defense pact.

Events in Czechoslovakia and Finland served to hasten activity among the nations of Western Europe. Top officials of the Low Countries discussed implementation of the Anglo-French offer of an alliance in a union, and demands rose in France for such a union. Italy will hold no more elections if the Communists win, Premier de Gasperi said. He likened Italian "action committees" to those that had taken over Czechoslovakia. In Austria, Socialists and Communists, for differing reasons, urged the withdrawal of occupation troops.

"World revolution is the single goal of Communists, including the Soviet Government, who are working with energy and intelligence to achieve it," a House of Representatives subcommittee reported. Among ten conclusions of Communist labor drawn in "The Strategy and Tactics of World Communism," the group listed a violent revolution, "one more catastrophic war" and fear of an anti-Soviet coalition. The report called for clear understanding of motives of Communists and held that they were not friends of democracy with whom co-operation was possible.

World conditions demand that this country have sufficient armed strength to discourage an aggressor or to halt him at the earliest moment, General McNarney declared in New York. Former Governor Lehman endorsed this view.

A strike at the Oak Ridge laboratories of the United States Atomic Energy Commission now would have "grave national implications," Federal Mediator Ching warned. He called the unions and operating company to Washington to continue talks on a bargaining pact.

RIVER CHANNEL FILLING UP; DEPTH AVERAGES 13.4 FT.

Delaware Not Dredged Since December, 1940; Some Spots Only 8'

$1,250,000 TO RESTORE

Ocean-Going Vessels Unable To Come Up River Since Before War

The channel of the Delaware river between Philadelphia and Trenton is filling up and the average depth now is given as 13.4 feet and in some spots it is only a little more than eight feet. This was brought out at a public hearing held Tuesday in the Trenton city hall.

Testimony at the hearing brought out the following facts:

Ocean going vessels have not been able to come up the river since before the war.

The channel has not been dredged since December 1940. As a result, the channel now has an average depth of 13.4 feet and in some spots is only a little more than eight feet deep.

United States Army Engineers believe there would not be enough traffic on the river to warrant the spending of $1,250,000 to restore the channel to its original depth and $220,000 a year to maintain it.

Major A. J. Ryan of the Philadelphia office of the Army engineers said 481,000 tons of shipping moved up and down the river in 1937. This fell off to 315,000 tons in 1940 and practically nothing last year. His office, he declared, does not have enough money to take care of all the projects in its section and has to eliminate those which it feels do not warrant the expense.

Fourteen industrial firms in the Trenton area submitted figures to the Port Commission on the approximate tonnage they would ship through the port of Trenton if the channel was restored. Ryan said, however, these figures totaled only about 50,000 tons.

PRUNING PROGRAM IS SCHEDULED FOR MAR. 1

At the Crowell and Moyer Farms; Also Mechanical Milking Discussion

OF GREAT INTEREST

An orchard pruning program on March 1st and a mechanical milking discussion on March 4th, have been placed on the Co-Operative Extension Work calendar in Bucks County.

The pruning was scheduled for the farm of Mrs. Ralph Crowell, Buckingham, at 10 this morning; and for the farm of Alvin Moyer, Dublin, at 1:30 p. m., the same day. J. U. Ruef, extension pomologist, Penna. State College, will conduct the demonstration.

Bucks County Agent William F. Greenawalt announces that "in order that milking machines may be used to their greatest efficiency to maintain high levels of production, udder health, and that the product be of highest quality, we are devoting an entire day, March 4th, to a thorough discussion of mechanical milking."

The program to be held in Plumstead borough hall, will be as follows. 10:30 a. m., "Milk Secretion", I. E. Parkins, dairy specialist, Pennsylvania State College; 11:15 a. m., "Installation and Care of Milking Machine", R. A. Linson; 12 noon, lunch reservations must be made to William F. Greenawalt, Doylestown; one p. m., "Milking Machine Sanitation", Harvey Ames; 1:30 p. m., "The Managed Milking Program", I. E. Parkin.

LEAP YEAR BABY

A son was born yesterday to Mr. and Mrs. Leon Plavin, Mill street, in Mercer Hospital, Trenton, N. J. The new arrival tipped the scales at six pounds, and is the third son for the Plavins.

A canvass was made of physicians in Bristol borough, and no other births for this area were reported for February 29th.

SEVEN "BILLS" PASSED AT YMCA "ASSEMBLY"

Two Bristol Boys Figure In The Election of "Delegates"

CROSS AND SNYDER

NORRISTOWN, Mar. 1 — Seven "bills" were presented, and after being argued all were passed Saturday at the pre-legislative "assembly" held by the Southeast District, YMCA, in the court house here.

The bills included the following:

Bill No. 1—To supplement Act 336 of 1927 to aid in increasing or establishing recreational system in all the counties, boroughs, and townships of Pennsylvania.

Bill No. 2—An act providing for state and parental aid of juvenile detention homes.

Bill No. 3—An act to provide financial protection against injury for all persons participating in high school sports.

Bill No. 4—An act to provide for state appropriations to secondary schools within the state which provide to eligible students a course of instruction in the proper operation of a motor vehicle in accordance with the rules and regulations as contained in the State of Penna. Motor Vehicle Code.

Bill No. 5—An act providing for the mandatory requirement of liability insurance for all motor vehicles.

Bill No. 6—An act defining and providing for vocational counselling and placement in all public high schools, and made available to all senior high school students of the school district in which they attend school, and to graduates, 21 years of age or over, of any high school.

Bill No. 7—An act to provide for sexual education and teaching in public high schools to require the principals and the superintendent of the high school to appoint teachers to teach sex education.

There was an election of delegates to the model legislature at Harrisburg. Two Bristol boys figured in the election held during the day, when Earl Cross was named "senator," and Warren P. Snyder, Jr., elected as a member of the "house of representatives."

T. F. Eppley, district executive of the state YMCA, explained the agenda for the day, and read delegate assignments to committees, with meeting places for each committee. Cross and Snyder were also assigned to committees, the former to Committee No. 4, and the latter to Committee No. 5.

These committees considered the various bills and also assisted in re-writing them and preparing them to be presented to the assembly for action at the afternoon session.

WRESTLING DATES

BETHLEHEM (INS) — Invitations to the 13th annual preparatory school wrestling championships at Lehigh University have been issued to 105 institutions. The tournament will be held March 5 and 6. A record entry list is expected to participate including Wyoming Seminary, the defending champion. Lehigh will be the scene of the 44th annual eastern intercollegiate wresting association championships on March 12 and 13. The N. C. A. A. title bouts will be waged on March 19 and 20.

AGED MAN ENDS LIFE WHILE ALONE IN ROOM

Francisco Garamella, 86, Is Found Dead After Report of Pistol is Heard

HE HAD BEEN MOROSE

An aged man shot himself to death Saturday afternoon at his daughter's home on Dorrance St. where he was residing. He is Francisco Garamella, 86, 334 Dorrance street, home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Trombino.

Garamella shot himself through the head with a .32 caliber revolver. Death was instantaneous.

At home at the time were his two granddaughters Anna, 32, and Catherine Trombino, 17. Garamella was in the dining room where he normally slept. A shot was heard by the girls, but they did not enter the room immediately.

The Rev. Peter Pinci, of the St. Ann's parish, was notified and he in turn called police. Police arrived and found the body. He was pronounced dead by Dr. Giordano.

Survivors are two daughters, Mrs. Frank Trombino, Bristol, and Mrs. Angelo Passanante, Brooklyn, N. Y.; two sons, Anthony, of Belleville, N. J.; and John, of Philadelphia; two sisters and a brother, Mrs. Anna Ingoglia, Mrs. Rose Cuttone, and Salvatore Garamella, Bristol.

Garamella had been despondent, police report.

POLIO FUND IN THIS AREA SURPASSES '47

School Pupils Double Their Donations to "March of Dimes"

JR. CLUB IN CHARGE

Word received by the local chairman of the "March of Dimes" drive is that the campaign in this area has surpassed that of last year. Purdy Weiss, treasurer of the infantile paralysis foundation fund for Bucks County, has informed Mrs. Robert Braker, local chairman, that funds turned over by her, plus checks sent direct from this area, are in advance of those received last year.

"The pupils in the schools in this area doubled the amount they gave last year," advises Mrs. Braker, who submits for publication the following as donations from schools: Bristol — Bath street school, $32.20; Wood street, $52.56; Jefferson avenue, $36.55; Washington street, $13.50; high school building, $70.25; St. Mark's parochial, $18; St. Ann's parochial, $15.20; Tullytown, $4.97; Edgely, $31.50; Andalusia, $14.70; St. Charles parochial, Cornwells Hts., $20.30; Bensalem township high school, $46.24; Eddington, $2.10; St. Luke's Lutheran, Croydon, $12.55; Croydon public school, $27.30; St. Thomas Aquinas parochial, Croydon, $53.70; Bristol township junior high school, $25.44; Maple Shade, $16; Newportville, $11.

Additional contributions by individuals, plus collections in this area, brought the amount turned over by Mrs. Braker to $1748.16. Other checks were forwarded direct to Mr. Weiss.

Cerebral Hemorrhage Is Given As Death Cause

LANGHORNE, Mar. 1—Although ill for two weeks, death of Burnard Stradling, 76, came as a shock to his relatives and friends yesterday. Bucks County Coroner, J. Alfred Rigby, was called in the case. Death is attributed to cerebral hemorrhage. Mr. Stradling resided at 309 N. Bellevue avenue.

Born at Oxford Valley, son of the late Brayley and Elizabeth Freese Stradling, he is survived by several nephews.

The deceased, one of the oldest active members of Langhorne Fire Co., was assistant engineer at the time of his death. He was also active in the county firemen's organization. He was a member of the Knights of the Golden Eagle, here.

The Rev. Russell Hummell, pastor of Langhorne Methodist Church, will conduct the service tomorrow at two p. m., at the Horner funeral home here, and burial will be in Langhorne Methodist Churchyard. Firemen will serve as pall-bearers. Friends may call this evening.

DISCUSS RAISING OF FUNDS FOR FIRE CO.

Committee Named to Solicit For Tullytown Fire Company

FOR A NEW STATION

TULLYTOWN, Mar. 1—Members of Tullytown Fire Company held a special meeting in the fire station on Thursday evening for the purpose of discussing ways of raising funds in order to renovate the building on Railroad avenue recently purchased by the company. They also plan to build an addition to the building, and hope sometime to have an entirely new building.

President Edward Paolella appointed the following committee: Vincent J. Magro, Edward Kaiser, William Swangler, and Michael Tumminia, and gave them authority to solicit homes and business establishments of Tullytown and surrounding area covered by Tullytown Fire Company, for funds to help cover cost of the proposed new station.

All interested parties are invited to be present Sunday at 11 a. m. on the new grounds to inspect the building.

Also appointed to serve as house committeemen are Gregory Parto, Andrew Pezza and Lewis Lucisano. Residents are asked to contact these three for use of furniture belonging to the fire company.

The president appointed Joseph Cutchineal, Sr., Wallace Keeler and John Lucisano as a committee to obtain more details about the parade to be held in Bristol this summer.

LEAVES $100 TO METHODIST CHURCH AT HULMEVILLE

Estate of Cyrus E. Smith is Listed at $48,000

THE GRUBER WILL

Laura Levengood, Bensalem, Named Her Sister; Latter Died Day Later

DOYLESTOWN, Mar. 1—The sum of $100 was bequeathed to Neshaminy Methodist Church, Hulmeville, in the will of Cyrus E. Smith, late of Hulmeville. This bequest is in memory of his late wife, Margaret Smith.

Mr. Smith, who died in Florida, February 7th, left a personal estate of $38,000, and real estate valued at $10,000.

Through the will a trust fund for benefit of his wife, Eva Dodge Smith, Hulmeville, was created; and his daughter, Frances H. Longhurst, Concord, N. C., was given her share of the estate outright. The will was drawn up on April 2, 1940.

A son-in-law, Assistant County Superintendent Paul L. Gruber, Fifth and Market streets, Perkasie, was granted the letters of administration in the estate of his father-in-law, Dr. N. B. Williams, Perkasie, amounting to an estate of $15,000.

Three daughters, Beatrice L. W. Bothern, Asbury Park, N. J.; Gladys W. Nadig, Phila., and Dorothy W. Gruber, Perkasie, are the heirs. Dr. Williams, well-known dentist, died February 3.

Laura V. Levengood, Bensalem township, who left a personal estate of $12,000 and real estate valued at $10,000, created a trust fund for the benefit of one beneficiary, Mary Emma Levengood, and stipulated that at her death the heir should be Huldah M. Edson, 6328 Wister St., Phila., who was also named executrix with John P. Betz. Mary Emma died a day after Laura passed away.

The testatrix, whose real estate is located at Hulmeville road and Bristol Pike, Bensalem township, and at 2734 Helen street, Phila., died Feb. 6. Her will was executed August 18, 1947.

A daughter, Myrtle Brown, and her husband, Willard M. Brown, were named the beneficiaries of the $1500 personal and real estate of the former's father, Joseph E. Pactcell, Bridgeton township, who died Dec. 5, 1935. The real estate includes a house and barn and the petitioners were bequeathed a life right on the Bridgeton township place. The will was executed Mar. 12, 1928. The daughter and son-in-law were named executrix and executor respectively.

4 of 6 Youths Turned Over to Phila. Police

Four of the six Philadelphia youths who admitted a Bucks County robbery have been turned over to Philadelphia detectives for trial in the Quaker City.

The quartet is part of the group arrested by Doylestown policemen February 14th after an attempt to steal an automobile in the rear of Clymer's department store, Doylestown, and after they had given up as "too big a job" planned a robbery at the Tyler estate near Newtown.

As two of the six bandits were not implicated in any of the Philadelphia thefts in question, they are held at Bucks County prison.

The four taken in tow by Philadelphia detectives are: Ross Ingram, 17; Edward Fox, 22; Joseph Barker, 21, and Joseph Gross, 20.

They are to be tried in Philadelphia for a long series of grocery store robberies, taxicab driver holdups and other stickups.

Obviously the terms in prison which they face in Philadelphia will be greater than the prison term they would face in Bucks county, because of the greater number of crimes they committed in Philadelphia.

The costs that will be saved by Bucks county will also be quite an amount as a result of the accused being tried in Philadelphia first.

The six youths were heavily armed when arrested by Patrolmen Clarence Irwin and Harton, Doylestown, for questioning. They were held at Doylestown for the auto theft and on firearms charges. Upon questioning they admitted to State Police, Doylestown police, and Philadelphia detectives their attempted Tyler holdup near Newtown and a large number of actual holdups in Philadelphia.

Dunlop Tire Store, 143 Otter St., is now open Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings. (Advertisement)

A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

Thirty British soldiers were killed and dozens injured yesterday when land mines wrecked the Cairo Express south of Tel Aviv in Palestine. Members of the Stern Gang announced they had caused the disaster in retaliation for the bombing in Jerusalem last week.

Communist "action committees," operating under radio instructions, will start today to reorganize Czechoslovakia into a totalitarian-type state. Every office and factory is to be brought under control.

Finland's envoy to Moscow returned to Helsinki. It was believed that he had brought with him detailed provisions in Premier Stalin's "suggestion" to President Paasikivi for a Finnish-Soviet defense pact.

Events in Czechoslovakia and Finland served to hasten activity among the nations of Western Europe. Top officials of the Low Countries discussed implementation of the Anglo-French offer of an alliance in a union, and demands rose in France for such a union. Italy will hold no more elections if the Communists win, Premier de Gasperi said. He likened Italian "action committees" to those that had taken over Czechoslovakia. In Austria, Socialists and Communists, for differing reasons, urged the withdrawal of occupation troops.

"World revolution is the single goal of Communists, including the Soviet Government, who are working with energy and intelligence to achieve it," a House of Representatives subcommittee reported. Among ten conclusions of Communist labor drawn in "The Strategy and Tactics of World Communism," the group listed a violent revolution, "one more catastrophic war" and fear of an anti-Soviet coalition. The report called for clear understanding of motives of Communists and held that they were not friends of democracy with whom co-operation was possible.

World conditions demand that this country have sufficient armed strength to discourage an aggressor or to halt him at the earliest moment, General McNarney declared in New York. Former Governor Lehman endorsed this view.

A strike at the Oak Ridge laboratories of the United States Atomic Energy Commission now would have "grave national implications," Federal Mediator Ching warned. He called the unions and operating company to Washington to continue talks on a bargaining pact.

SPRING FLOODS

One of the big items of weather news this spring probably will be floods. High waters are raging in eight states and that is an indication super-saturation of the soil has taken place in a mighty area. On top of that a severe winter has left plenty of snow in many states east of the Mississippi. Spring thaws will cause rivers to run high.

If there are excessive rains this spring flood news will be accorded big headlines.

The situation in the wheat country is somewhat different. The ground is saturated on top but the effects of last fall's drouth are still to be found. The subsoil is not too wet and there are spots where the subsoil is too dry for comfort. Recent snows have improved the situation. Flooding never is much of a bother in the wheat country, except for flash floods after a cloudburst.

It will be recalled that last spring was an excessively wet season. Iowa had heavy floods. Then the rains stopped and some areas, stricken by floods in the spring, practically were burned out by fall. Such areas can get along without a repetition this season of that brand of weather.

Indications now are that most of the flood news will be in the Ohio Valley, with the Mississippi south of Memphis sharing in it to some extent. But floods are unpredictable.

A VETO-PROOF CUT

Since the House passed the Knutson bill on February 2 the question of tax reduction has been lying dormant. Now the Senate Finance Committee is beginning hearings on the subject.

The hearings may require two weeks, so it will be mid-March before the Senate acts. Then the bill will go to conference. More time will be required to arrive at a compromise. But the chances are good that the bill will go to the President by April 1.

What the President will do with it is a question mark. He may veto the bill, as he did twice last year. But perhaps recent events will influence him to drop his adamancy. Congress will send him a measure that he cannot veto with clear conscience.

The cut in taxes, according to most reliable indications, will be approximately $5,000,000,000. The bill will be conservative enough and simple enough to survive a veto, should the President continue to adhere to his erroneous theories of taxation. Soon smaller amounts will be withheld from pay envelopes in the form of taxes, and those who pay on estimates of 1948 taxes on March 15 can confidently slice the amount appreciably, thanks to Congress.

One gets the impression sometimes that Candidate Truman thinks inflation, as a political asset, is a swell affair.

It is claimed a man loses a eighth during a day's work. Especially if he wears his feet off around a pool table.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol Sept. 30, 1897. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

Charles Young on Tuesday of this present week was engaged in the occupation of removing the dust from carpets at the residence of Mr. Leo Landreth. His base of operations was at the foot of the yard on the river bank. He gave his mind as well as his bodily strength to the work. With his back to the river he worked away unconscious of the fact that he was slowly stepping backward. Gradually as the work progressed to a finish the distance from the river became less and less until the dividing line between land and water was small indeed. But Charles worked on, there was no one present to warn him of his fate, soon another backward step was taken and over he went into the water beneath him. His cries for aid were heard by some men at the water works wharf and Charles was rescued after he had twice gone down.

The following citizens of Bristol have been summoned to act as jurors at the October term of Civil court beginning on Monday, October 18th: John R. Boyd, J. P. Stradling, Charles Powell. For the November Criminal Court the following grand jurors were drawn: John I. Sotrrell, John Stetson and William H. Hibbs. The traverse jurors for the same term are Charles Matthews, Neal J. McIlvaine, James Stephenson, James F. King, Jesse L. Booz, William R. Vandegrift, and Dennis Dugan.

Work will be commenced on the large addition to the worsted mills of William H. Grundy & Co., as soon as possible, in order that it may be completed before the first of the year. The building will be 340 feet long and one and two stories high. The improvement will cost $75,000 and nearly 100 more people will be given employment at the mill.

Annual Banquet, O. E. S., Much Enjoyed by 160

The annual banquet of Morning Star Chapter, No. 395, Order of the Eastern Star, was held on Saturday evening in the banquet hall of Bristol Methodist Church, with 160 members and guests attending.

The invocation by Mrs. Louise Quinn, Tullytown, was followed by the national anthem sung in unison. The hall was attractive in the decorative scheme of the national colors, while the same color scheme predominated for the tables. Potted plants and lighted candles formed the table decorations.

A Philadelphia caterer served the banquet, the menu consisting of half of grape fruit, snapper soup, egg nog sherbet, salad, roast beef, string beans, baked potatoes, celery, olives, radishes, mints, nuts, rolls, butter, fancy cakes, ice cream and coffee.

Frederick E. Allen, Glenside, acting worthy patron of the chapter, with a few brief remarks introduced the worthy matron, Mrs. Jennie Townsend. The latter, in a few, well-chosen words, welcomed the guests and introduced her officers and co-workers.

Group singing interspersed the courses which were followed by an entertainment by professional talent in the church school room.

Inside Your Congress

—o—

Mr. Murray Indicted

—by—

SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

"The Gentleman from Indiana"

The President of the CIO, Mr. Philip Murray, asked to be indicted in order to test the Taft-Hartley Law, and the Department of Justice has complied—with apologies.

Considerable editorial comment has been favorable to Mr. Murray's claim to be a champion of freedom of the press. But as I read between the lines, there is more to it than that.

Last July there was a special election to Congress in Baltimore. The CIO favored the Democratic candidate, Ed Garmatz, who was elected. In a statement published in the CIO News, Mr. Murray said that the Taft-Hartley Law purports to make it illegal for members of unions, acting through their officers, "to expend their common funds" in matters relating to elections for federal office. (You will note that he did not limit the expenditures to editorial expression in union newspapers).

Mr. Murray said he believed the law was unconstitutional; that it should be repealed; that candidate Garmatz could be expected to vote to repeal it; and he, therefore, urged all members of the CIO in that district not only to vote for Garmatz, themselves, but to "make every effort to induce their neighbors, friends and all persons eligible to vote" to do the same.

Thousands of copies of this appeal and reprints thereof (over and above the regular subscription list of the CIO News) were distributed throughout the district. These extra copies cost money. CIO union funds were used to print and distribute them. This cost was a political expenditure—as much so as any campaign dodger, banner or torchlight parade.

If the appeal to vote for Garmatz had been confined to the regular circulation of the CIO News, a narrower question would be presented to the courts. But no one dry behind the ears believes labor union leaders expect to limit the "expenditure of their common funds" to editorials in regular publications reaching only their own members. The appeal, in fact, was to use "every effort" to get "all persons" to vote.

The question is, therefore, not limited to the freedom of the press of a regularly published newspaper. The real question is whether Congress has the constitutional power to limit the amount of money that may be spent in a campaign.

Years ago Congress passed a Corrupt Practices Act, limiting the amount that might be spent in behalf of a Congressional candidate. More recently it passed the Hatch Act, limiting to $3,000,000 the amount that can be spent by a national committee in a Presidential campaign.

Yet it is reported that labor unions are planning to raise several times $3,000,000 to defeat all members of Congress, Democrat or Republican, who voted for the Taft-Hartley Law. They propose to do this, not through the regular committees of established parties, but on the outside, through union channels and with union funds.

If they can legally do this under cover of "freedom of the press", then the Corrupt Practices Act and Hatch Act are words signifying nothing.

If corporations can be legally forbidden (as they are) to contribute or expend corporate funds to elect or defeat candidates for public office, why can't labor unions be forbidden?

As a side issue, one wonders if the labor leaders are not riding to a fall in their effort to secure the repeal of the Taft-Hartley Law. The usually accurate Roper poll, published by Fortune magazine, reveals that only 14 per cent of all voters think the law too strict; that 57 per cent of union members approve the law as written, and only 26 per cent of union members oppose it. The law, in fact, may prove to be a political asset to Mr. Taft if he is the Republican candidate.

SPRING FLOODS

One of the big items of weather news this spring probably will be floods. High waters are raging in eight states and that is an indication super-saturation of the soil has taken place in a mighty area. On top of that a severe winter has left plenty of snow in many states east of the Mississippi. Spring thaws will cause rivers to run high.

If there are excessive rains this spring flood news will be accorded big headlines.

The situation in the wheat country is somewhat different. The ground is saturated on top but the effects of last fall's drouth are still to be found. The subsoil is not too wet and there are spots where the subsoil is too dry for comfort. Recent snows have improved the situation. Flooding never is much of a bother in the wheat country, except for flash floods after a cloudburst.

It will be recalled that last spring was an excessively wet season. Iowa had heavy floods. Then the rains stopped and some areas, stricken by floods in the spring, practically were burned out by fall. Such areas can get along without a repetition this season of that brand of weather.

Indications now are that most of the flood news will be in the Ohio Valley, with the Mississippi south of Memphis sharing in it to some extent. But floods are unpredictable.

A VETO-PROOF CUT

Since the House passed the Knutson bill on February 2 the question of tax reduction has been lying dormant. Now the Senate Finance Committee is beginning hearings on the subject.

The hearings may require two weeks, so it will be mid-March before the Senate acts. Then the bill will go to conference. More time will be required to arrive at a compromise. But the chances are good that the bill will go to the President by April 1.

What the President will do with it is a question mark. He may veto the bill, as he did twice last year. But perhaps recent events will influence him to drop his adamancy. Congress will send him a measure that he cannot veto with clear conscience.

The cut in taxes, according to most reliable indications, will be approximately $5,000,000,000. The bill will be conservative enough and simple enough to survive a veto, should the President continue to adhere to his erroneous theories of taxation. Soon smaller amounts will be withheld from pay envelopes in the form of taxes, and those who pay on estimates of 1948 taxes on March 15 can confidently slice the amount appreciably, thanks to Congress.

One gets the impression sometimes that Candidate Truman thinks inflation, as a political asset, is a swell affair.

It is claimed a man loses weighth during a day's work. Especially if he wears his feet off around a pool table.

ECHOES OF THE PAST

(By Courier Staff Member)

Review of the news as it appeared in the Bucks County Gazette issue dated at Bristol Sept. 30, 1897. The Gazette, a weekly newspaper published in Bristol, was discontinued following its merger with the Courier.

Charles Young on Tuesday of this present week was engaged in the occupation of removing the dust from carpets at the residence of Mr. Leo Landreth. His base of operations was at the foot of the yard on the river bank. He gave his mind as well as his bodily strength to the work. With his back to the river he worked away unconscious of the fact that he was slowly stepping backward. Gradually as the work progressed to a finish the distance from the river became less and less until the dividing line between land and water was small indeed. But Charles worked on, there was no one present to warn him of his fate, soon another backward step was taken and over he went into the water beneath him. His cries for aid were heard by some men at the water works wharf and Charles was rescued after he had twice gone down.

The following citizens of Bristol have been summoned to act as jurors at the October term of Civil court beginning on Monday, October 18th: John R. Boyd, J. P. Stradling, Charles Powell. For the November Criminal Court the following grand jurors were drawn: John I. Sotrrell, John Stetson and William H. Hibbs. The traverse jurors for the same term are Charles Matthews, Neal J. McIlvaine, James Stephenson, James F. King, Jesse L. Booz, William R. Vandegrift, and Dennis Dugan.

Work will be commenced on the large addition to the worsted mills of William H. Grundy & Co., as soon as possible, in order that it may be completed before the first of the year. The building will be 340 feet long and one and two stories high. The improvement will cost $75,000 and nearly 100 more people will be given employment at the mill.

(Following items from Gazette of October 27, 1897.)

Langhorne citizens propose to make application to the court to enlarge the boundaries of the borough so as to take in the cut-off railroad. The Newtown trolley road, now being constructed, will be unable to connect Newtown and Langhorne without the consent of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company. . . . The only way out of the difficulty is the enlarging of the borough limits, and the securing of borough legislation granting the right to build the road at the disputed point.

Bristol Fire Company No. 1's new hose wagon arrived this morning from the makers, A. F. & S. C. Stewart, of Rochester, N. Y. . . . It is after the style of a police patrol wagon, the hose being laid in the bottom instead of being on a reel.

The residence of William Carter, near Bloomsdale, was entirely destroyed by fire on Tuesday. . . .

Owen Evans is putting two large bulk windows in his store at the corner of Mill and Pond streets.

The fire on last Friday near the corner of Cedar and Dorrance streets, where the storage house in the rear of Edward H. Foster's store burned down, was a close call to a very disastrous one. The fire had just begun to take hold of Comfort's large livery stables when it was placed under control. Mr. Foster estimates his loss at $350, and will begin immediately the erection of a new storage building.

Annual Banquet, O. E. S., Much Enjoyed by 160

The annual banquet of Morning Star Chapter, No. 395, Order of the Eastern Star, was held on Saturday evening in the banquet hall of Bristol Methodist Church, with 160 members and guests attending.

The invocation by Mrs. Louise Quinn, Tullytown, was followed by the national anthem sung in unison. The hall was attractive in the decorative scheme of the national colors, while the same color scheme predominated for the tables. Potted plants and lighted candles formed the table decorations.

A Philadelphia caterer served the banquet, the menu consisting of half of grape fruit, snapper soup, egg nog sherbet, salad, roast beef, string beans, baked potatoes, celery, olives, radishes, mints, nuts, rolls, butter, fancy cakes, ice cream and coffee.

Frederick E. Allen, Glenside, acting worthy patron of the chapter, with a few brief remarks introduced the worthy matron, Mrs. Jennie Townsend. The latter, in a few, well-chosen words, welcomed the guests and introduced her officers and co-workers.

Group singing interspersed the courses which were followed by an entertainment by professional talent in the church school room.

Inside Your Congress

Mr. Murray Indicted

—by—

SAMUEL B. PETTENGILL

"The Gentleman from Indiana"

The President of the CIO, Mr. Philip Murray, asked to be indicted in order to test the Taft-Hartley Law, and the Department of Justice has complied—with apologies.

Considerable editorial comment has been favorable to Mr. Murray's claim to be a champion of freedom of the press. But as I read between the lines, there is more to it than that.

Last July there was a special election to Congress in Baltimore. The CIO favored the Democratic candidate, Ed Garmatz, who was elected. In a statement published in the CIO News, Mr. Murray said that the Taft-Hartley Law purports to make it illegal for members of unions, acting through their officers, "to expend their common funds" in matters relating to elections for federal office. (You will note that he did not limit the expenditures to editorial expression in union newspapers).

Mr. Murray said he believed the law was unconstitutional; that it should be repealed; that candidate Garmatz could be expected to vote to repeal it; and he, therefore, urged all members of the CIO in that district not only to vote for Garmatz, themselves, but to "make every effort to induce their neighbors, friends and all persons eligible to vote" to do the same.

Thousands of copies of this appeal and reprints thereof (over and above the regular subscription list of the CIO News) were distributed throughout the district. These extra copies cost money. CIO union funds were used to print and distribute them. This cost was a political expenditure—as much so as any campaign dodger, banner or torchlight parade.

If the appeal to vote for Garmatz had been confined to the regular circulation of the CIO News, a narrower question would be presented to the courts. But no one dry behind the ears believes labor union leaders expect to limit the "expenditure of their common funds" to editorials in regular publications reaching only their own members. The appeal, in fact, was to use "every effort" to get "all persons" to vote.

The question is, therefore, not limited to the freedom of the press of a regularly published newspaper. The real question is whether Congress has the constitutional power to limit the amount of money that may be spent in a campaign.

Years ago Congress passed a Corrupt Practices Act, limiting the amount that might be spent in behalf of a Congressional candidate. More recently it passed the Hatch Act, limiting to $3,000,000 the amount that can be spent by a national committee in a Presidential campaign.

Yet it is reported that labor unions are planning to raise several times $3,000,000 to defeat all members of Congress, Democrat or Republican, who voted for the Taft-Hartley Law. They propose to do this, not through the regular committees of established parties, but on the outside, through union channels and with union funds.

If they can legally do this under cover of "freedom of the press", then the Corrupt Practices Act and Hatch Act are words signifying nothing.

If corporations can be legally forbidden (as they are) to contribute or expend corporate funds to elect or defeat candidates for public office, why can't labor unions be forbidden?

As a side issue, one wonders if the labor leaders are not riding to a fall in their effort to secure the repeal of the Taft-Hartley Law. The usually accurate Roper poll, published by Fortune magazine, reveals that only 14 per cent of all voters think the law too strict; that 57 per cent of union members approve the law as written, and only 36 per cent of union members oppose it. The law, in fact, may prove to be a political asset to Mr. Taft if he is the Republican candidate.

Because It Is Strong and Light, and proof against rust, termites, fire and rot, aluminum bids fair to play an important part in the building materials field of the future. In this simple one-story home, the metal has been used for sidewall clapboards and roofing.

ALUMINUM GOES RESIDENTIAL

By MARION CLYDE McCARROLL

This is the Floor Plan of the house shown just below. For interiors, aluminum performs many functions, including pastel-colored tiles for bathroom walls, sound conditioning acoustical panels, and so forth.

In Westport, Connecticut, there's a home that has attracted an enormous amount of attention among those interested in new ideas in housing.

Indeed, it wasn't only just those interested in housing, who came to see it, but also many who were simply curious.

While it was in process of construction, "sidewalk superintendents" arrived in droves to park their cars and watch the workmen putting the clapboards on the side walls, and shingling the roof. And when the house was finished, and the owners had moved in and set up housekeeping, it was nothing at all for them to be summoned to the door at almost any hour of the day or night by perfect strangers who asked to be shown through the home.

In fact, the residence acquired such fame, and aroused so much general interest, that the public practically came to consider it one of the local sights in its community which they had as much right to visit and inspect as a tourist has to do the same to a monument.

All this phenomenal curiosity was due to the fact that the house employed a large amount of aluminum in its construction, and the fact that aluminum had come out of the kitchen pots-and-pans cupboard and gone residential was definitely news.

In addition to the aluminum shingles on its roof, and the aluminum clapboards on its walls, the Westport house took up this metal in a variety of other ways.

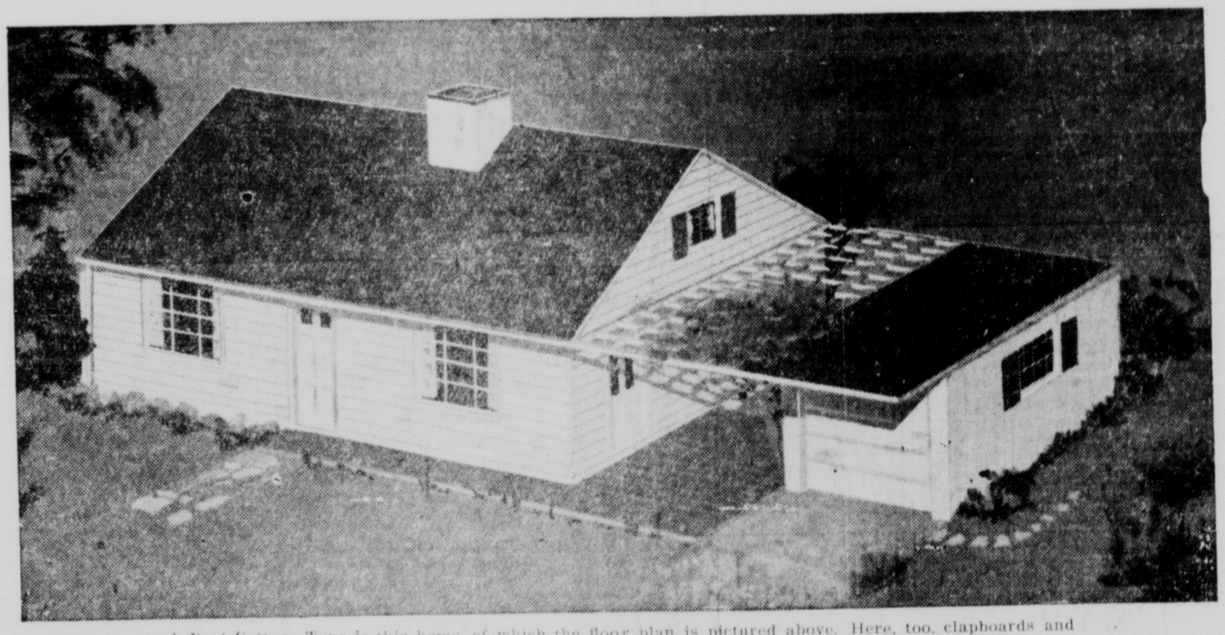

It used aluminum foil insulation throughout, to provide a warm home in winter and a cool one in summer. It put pastel-colored aluminum tile on the bathroom walls, and papered the kitchen with aluminum foil wallpaper in soft green. In the basement playroom, a fluted aluminum wainscoting rises to chair rail height, and aluminum acoustical ceiling panels provide desirable sound-conditioning.

No wonder the public wanted to see!

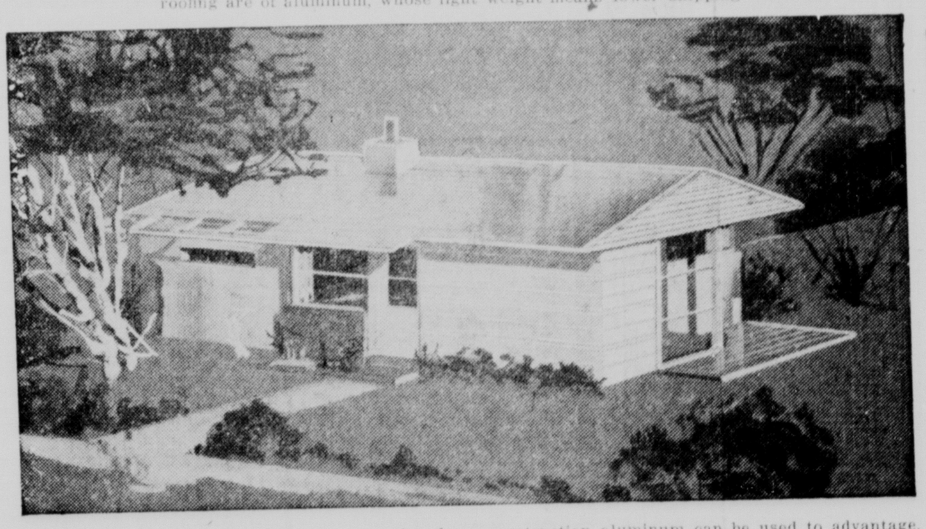

There are many reasons why it appears that aluminum will be increasingly popular as a building material.

Because it is rust-proof, rot-proof, fire-proof and termite-proof, maintenance costs and replacement expense are reduced to a minimum. Again, its unique insulating quality often means a 15-degree difference in temperature under the roof, while its strength and lightness make for much easier handling than other conventional building materials, a fact which has a bearing on reducing construction costs through lower labor charges.

Pictured are three typical houses designed for construction with aluminum clapboards and roofing.

A Neat Cottage Type is this home, of which the floor plan is pictured above. Here, too, clapboards and roofing are of aluminum, whose light weight means lower shipping costs and also lower labor charges.

And Here is a Third Suggestion for a home in whose construction aluminum can be used to advantage. The roof of this metal lets through no more than 5% of heat, making the house amazingly cool in summer.

Because It Is Strong and Light, and proof against rust, termites, fire and rot, aluminum bids fair to play an important part in the building materials field of the future. In this simple one-story home, the metal has been used for sidewall clapboards and roofing.

ALUMINUM GOES RESIDENTIAL

By MARION CLYDE McCARROLL

In Westport, Connecticut, there's a home that has attracted an enormous amount of attention among those interested in new ideas in housing.

Indeed, it wasn't only just those interested in housing, who came to see it, but also many who were simply curious.

While it was in process of construction, "sidewalk superintendents" arrived in droves to park their cars and watch the workmen putting the clapboards on the side walls, and shingling the roof. And when the house was finished, and the owners had moved in and set up housekeeping, it was nothing at all for them to be summoned to the door at almost any hour of the day or night by perfect strangers who asked to be shown through the home.

In fact, the residence acquired such fame, and aroused so much general interest, that the public practically came to consider it one of the local sights in its community which they had as much right to visit and inspect as a tourist has to do the same to a monument.

All this phenomenal curiosity was due to the fact that the house employed a large amount of aluminum in its construction, and the fact that aluminum had come out of the kitchen pots-and-pans cupboard and gone residential was definitely news.

In addition to the aluminum shingles on its roof, and the aluminum clapboards on its walls, the Westport house took up this metal in a variety of other ways.

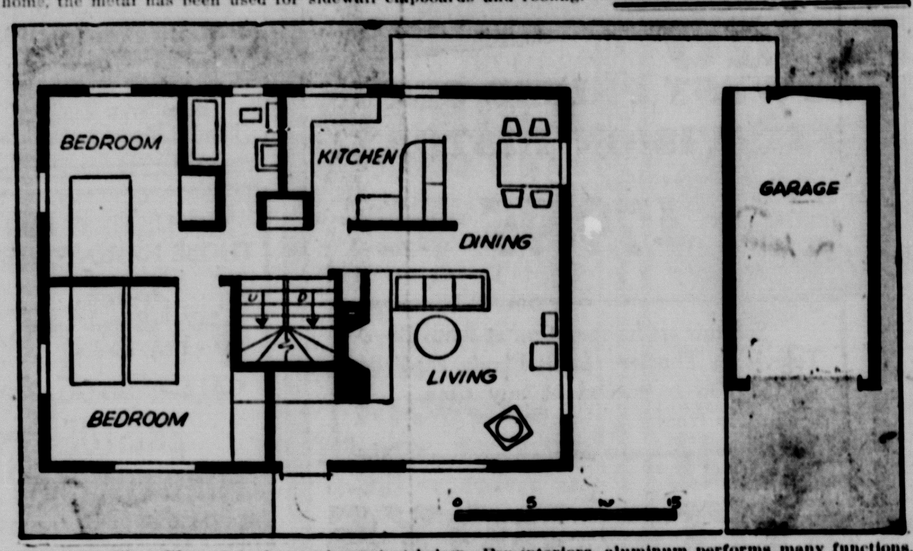

It used aluminum foil insulation throughout, to provide a warm home in winter and a cool one in summer. It put pastel-colored aluminum tile on the bathroom walls, and papered the kitchen with aluminum foil wallpaper in soft green. In the basement playroom, a fluted aluminum wainscoting rises to chair rail height, and aluminum acoustical ceiling panels provide desirable sound-conditioning.

No wonder the public wanted to see!

There are many reasons why it appears that aluminum will be increasingly popular as a building material.

Because it is rust-proof, rot-proof, fire-proof and termite-proof, maintenance costs and replacement expense are reduced to a minimum. Again, its unique insulating quality often means a 15-degree difference in temperature under the roof, while its strength and lightness make for much easier handling than other conventional building materials, a fact which has a bearing on reducing construction costs through lower labor charges.

Pictured are three typical houses designed for construction with aluminum clapboards and roofing.

This is the Floor Plan of the house shown just below. For interiors, aluminum performs many functions, including pastel-colored tiles for bathroom walls, sound conditioning acoustical panels, and so forth.

A Neat Cottage Type is this home, of which the floor plan is pictured above. Here, too, clapboards and roofing are of aluminum, whose light weight means lower shipping costs and also lower labor charges.

And Here is a Third Suggestion for a home in whose construction aluminum can be used to advantage. The roof of this metal lets through no more than 5% of heat, making the house amazingly cool in summer.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Mr. T. and The South

Washington, March 1.

THE hot temper of Southern Democrats over the obvious effort of President Truman, through his Federal fair employment practices and other kindred proposals, to woo the Negro vote in the ten Northern states where it is large enough to affect the result, is easy to understand. It strikes at the deepest of their prejudices and constitutes a threat to the social order of their section, hard to contemplate calmly.

—o—

THIS is a serious matter in the South, but what particularly enrages its representatives is the well-founded conviction that, politically Mr. Truman is playing both ends against the middle and that this makes them appear the prize political boobs in history. For example, while the President makes these overtures to the Negroes in the hope of gaining their support in places where it is most needed, he well knows how offensive they are to the South, and is fully aware that the Southern States, whose electoral votes are vital to his election, have no alternative but to support him.

—o—

THIS is indignantly regarded as taking unfair advantage of the loyal people of a great section. Certainly, it does make great saps of the Southern Democrats, leaders as well as rank and file. Nevertheless, their anger against the unfortunate Mr. Truman is not entirely reasonable. If the heated statesmen below the Mason and Dixon line will reflect calmly upon the recent political past, several things will become clear to them—first that the above-mentioned gestures were forced upon Mr. Truman, not chosen by him; second, that he had little more choice in making them than they have in meeting them; third, that responsibility for the dependence of the Democratic party upon a combination of the Negro vote in the North and the labor bosses in the big cities is not Mr. Truman's but wholly that of his predecessor, Mr. Roosevelt.

—o—

IT was Mr. Roosevelt who first made boobs of Southern Democrats, not Mr. Truman. The latter is merely following the Roosevelt lead. It was Mr. R., not Mr. T., who swung the Democratic party away from its historic position, transformed its character, baited and beguiled the traditionally Republican Negroes into becoming Democrats, formed a White House alliance with the CIO, opened the door to the radicals and drove millions of conservative Democrats out of the party. This was its nature when three years ago Mr. Truman became its titular head. Now, with Mr. Wallace diverting part of the labor vote, most of the radicals and some of the Negroes, it is clear that neither Mr. Truman nor any other Democrat possibly can win this year without holding the bulk of the Negroes in Massachusetts, New York, Maryland, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan, who voted almost solidly for Mr. Roosevelt in 1936, 1940 and 1944.

—o—

ONE only has to analyze the votes in these states in 1940 and 1944 to confirm these facts. Take, for example, the typical State of Maryland, where there are approximately 100,000 registered Negro voters. In the last election Mr. Roosevelt carried Maryland by 23,000. Conservative estimates by leaders of both parties agreed not less than 50,000 Negroes voted for him. Take New York—in 1944 Mr. Roosevelt carried it over Mr. Dewey by 317,000. Hardly anyone questions that more than that many Negroes voted for him. A similar case for Democratic dependence on the Negro votes can be made out in all the other states where they are enough to be a factor. There are at least nine of these.

—o—

IN BRIEF, this vote has become essential to Democratic success and the practical politicians in both parties know it. Considering these things, when the Negro leaders, spokesmen and press unite, as they have, behind a proposal such as the fair employment practices bill, Mr. Truman has to come through. As well as anyone, he knows the hell it will raise in the South, but he had no alternative. To fail meant that the Republicans would be able to stampede most of the Negroes "back home". And if they do that, concededly, the Democrats are sunk. There is nothing for Mr. Truman to do save continue the Roosevelt policy of making a boob of the Southern democracy.

—o—

HE WILL not get away with it as well as Mr. Roosevelt, who as a double dealer had a good deal more on the ball. Mr. Truman will lose more votes in the South, where the loss will not hurt. He will not get as solid Negro support in the North as did Mr. Roosevelt but he will prevent that "stampede". It was in 1936 that Chairman James A. Farley, with unlimited Federal patronage, the employment of scores of traveling Negro teachers, preachers and speakers, the enthusiastic cooperation of the late Harry Hopkins and his WPA wholehearted support from Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt, made a calculated drive to take away from the Republicans what had been their basic asset since the Civil War.

—o—

A PRACTICALLY complete success was achieved. It was regarded by those responsible as the cleverest political coup in the history of American politics. Even in the South (there then being no hint of the sort of legislation that now threatens) it was so regarded. However, at the time there were some who warned that this might not turn out as smart as it seemed. Looking at the situation as it now exists, they appear to have been right.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

Mr. T. and The South

Washington, March 1.

THE hot temper of Southern Democrats over the obvious effort of President Truman, through his Federal fair employment practices and other kindred proposals, to woo the Negro vote in the ten Northern states where it is large enough to affect the result, is easy to understand. It strikes at the deepest of their prejudices and constitutes a threat to the social order of their section, hard to contemplate calmly.

—o—

THIS is a serious matter in the South, but what particularly enrages its representatives is the well-founded conviction that, politically Mr. Truman is playing both ends against the middle and that this makes them appear the prize political boobs in history. For example, while the President makes these overtures to the Negroes in the hope of gaining their support in places where it is most needed, he well knows how offensive they are to the South, and is fully aware that the Southern States, whose electoral votes are vital to his election, have no alternative but to support him.

—o—

THIS is indignantly regarded as taking unfair advantage of the loyal people of a great section. Certainly, it does make great saps of the Southern Democrats, leaders as well as rank and file. Nevertheless, their anger against the unfortunate Mr. Truman is not entirely reasonable. If the heated statesmen below the Mason and Dixon line will reflect calmly upon the recent political past, several things will become clear to them—first that the above-mentioned gestures were forced upon Mr. Truman, not chosen by him; second, that he had little more choice in making them than they have in meeting them; third, that responsibility for the dependence of the Democratic party upon a combination of the Negro vote in the North and the labor bosses in the big cities is not Mr. Truman's but wholly that of his predecessor, Mr. Roosevelt.

—o—

IT was Mr. Roosevelt who first made boobs of Southern Democrats, not Mr. Truman. The latter is merely following the Roosevelt lead. It was Mr. R., not Mr. T., who swung the Democratic party away from its historic position, transformed its character, baited and beguiled the traditionally Republican Negroes into becoming Democrats, formed a White House alliance with the CIO, opened the door to the radicals and drove millions of conservative Democrats out of the party. This was its nature when three years ago Mr. Truman became its titular head. Now, with Mr. Wallace diverting part of the labor vote, most of the radicals and some of the Negroes, it is clear that neither Mr. Truman nor any other Democrat possibly can win this year without holding the bulk of the Negroes in Massachusetts, New York, Maryland, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Michigan, who voted almost solidly for Mr. Roosevelt in 1936, 1940 and 1944.

—o—

ONE only has to analyze the votes in these states in 1940 and 1944 to confirm these facts. Take, for example, the typical State of Maryland, where there are approximately 100,000 registered Negro voters. In the last election Mr. Roosevelt carried Maryland by 23,000. Conservative estimates by leaders of both parties agreed not less than 50,000 Negroes voted for him. Take New York—in 1944 Mr. Roosevelt carried it over Mr. Dewey by 317,000. Hardly anyone questions that more than that many Negroes voted for him. A similar case for Democratic dependence on the Negro votes can be made out in all the other states where they are enough to be a factor. There are at least nine of these.

—o—

IN BRIEF, this vote has become essential to Democratic success and the practical politicians in both parties know it. Considering these things, when the Negro leaders, spokesmen and press unite, as they have, behind a proposal such as the fair employment practices bill, Mr. Truman has to come through. As well as anyone, he knows the hell it will raise in the South, but he had no alternative. To fail meant that the Republicans would be able to stampede most of the Negroes "back home". And if they do that, concededly, the Democrats are sunk. There is nothing for Mr. Truman to do save continue the Roosevelt policy of making a boob of the Southern democracy.

—o—

HE WILL not get away with it as well as Mr. Roosevelt, who as a double dealer had a good deal more on the ball. Mr. Truman will lose more votes in the South, where the loss will not hurt. He will not get as solid Negro support in the North as did Mr. Roosevelt but he will prevent that "stampede". It was in 1936 that Chairman James A. Farley, with unlimited Federal patronage, the employment of scores of traveling Negro teachers, preachers and speakers, the enthusiastic cooperation of the late Harry Hopkins and his WPA wholehearted support from Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt, made a calculated drive to take away from the Republicans what had been their basic asset since the Civil War.

—o—

A PRACTICALLY complete success was achieved. It was regarded by those responsible as the cleverest political coup in the history of American politics. Even in the South (there then being no hint of the sort of legislation that now threatens) it was so regarded. However, at the time there were some who warned that this might not turn out as smart as it seemed. Looking at the situation as it now exists, they appear to have been right.

Eternal God, we beseech Thee to hear our supplications and harken to our prayers, these days when we feel we cannot see beyond the gloom into a brighter future. Give us faith to believe that when dark clouds hang heavily over us, the Great-white Hand of our Heavenly Father can steer them away. Enable us to have a larger hope, a stronger courage and a wider understanding of Thy mysterious leadings. This we ask in Thy Name's Sake. Amen.

MILK SHOULD NEVER BE EXCLUDED FROM MEALS; IS NEEDED

By FLORA-MAY SAGUI
Home Economics Representative

If you dislike drinking milk, don't exclude it from your diet; it's a food so valuable, no one can afford to miss it.

Milk is one of the best known sources of calcium and vitamins A and G. It's at the top of the list of body-building foods — a strong builder of bones and teeth. Several tests have shown that milk plays an important part in prolonging life. There is no more complete food for the whole family.

If you or members of your family don't take to drinking milk, include it in your meals in many ways other than as a beverage.

Cheese is especially high in food value. Two one-inch cubes of American cheese contains more protein than one cup of milk. Cottage cheese also is high in protein. One-fourth cup of this cheese has more protein than a cup of milk.

Milk can be used daily in hot cocoa, casserole dishes, puddings, and cereals.

Steaming cream soups on cold days make excellent use of milk. Use any vegetable the family is fond of—carrots, spinach, corn, celery, potatoes, onions, and others. The basic cream soup recipe requires: 2 cups of strained or chopped vegetable, 2 cups of milk, 2-3 tablespoons butter, 2-3 tablespoons butter, 2-3 tablespoonw Hesonir.n ..r flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Make a white sauce of the butter, flour, milk, salt and pepper. Stir in the hot strained vegetables. Serve immediately.

For more recipes and ways to use milk, send to our office, the Agricultural Extension Association, 75 N. Main street, Doylestown, for leaflet No. 88, entitled "Why Not Milk".

PROFY QUINTET SCORES VICTORY OVER K. OF C. TEAM

Scoring ten points in an overtime period, the Profy quintet won its ninth straight game yesterday afternoon as it won over the Knights of Columbus team on the Rohm and Haas court. Final score was: Profy's, 43; K. of C., 36.

The triumph assured the Mill Streeters of at least a deadlock in the final standing of the Bristol Basketball League. Rohm & Haas must win its remaining games to tie the Profymen for first position in which case a playoff will be necessary.

The score at the end of the regulation game was 33-33 after "Bob" Bonner had scored twice in five seconds and "Stan" Lelinski dumped in a foul to tie the count.

"Jack" Hansen, former Bensalem High star, scored a field goal to start the extra session and after Kane made a foul and Lelinski scored a double-decker, the Knights went ahead, 36-35. But that ended the Knights counting as Cahill, Gallagher, and Sak scored twin-pointers for Profy's and Hansen and Sak converted foul tries.

Ralph Cahill led the radiomen in scoring with 19 points while Lelinski was high scorer for the Caseys with 13 points. In addition to their scoring, these two were by far the outstanding defense players in the tilt, getting possession of the ball most of the game.

Sunday and overnight guests of Miss Erda M. Schatt were Mr. and Mrs. Lealand Lownds, of Fairfield, Conn., who are en route to Florida.

Approximately $28 was cleared on the bake sale which the Youth Fellowship conducted in Neshaminy Methodist Church social hall on Saturday afternoon.

Hulmeville borough council session for March will be held this evening.

CROYDON VETS WIN FINAL GAME IN BRISTOL LEAGUE

A last quarter rally by St. Ann's fell short yesterday afternoon as the Croydon Vets won its final scheduled game of the Bristol Basketball League on the Maple Beach club-house floor. The hard-fought game ended 40-38.

Going into the finale, St. Ann's was trailing by 11 points and with one minute left to play was seven points behind. The Purple and Gold team scored in fast order and came within two points of the Vets, only to have Wrustman score on lay-up to give the Vets their triumph. St. Ann's scored again with five seconds remaining in the game.

Bob Jones and Ed. Lavery were the chief point-grabbers for the Croydon aggregation with 11 and 10 points, respectively. Toby Oriola scored 15 points for the "Saints."

St. Ann's meets Rohm & Haas, and Falls Alumni plays the Hibernians tonight on the high school court.
